

QHIO SELECTION SUPPORT FOR HEALTH CARE AND COMMUNITY-BASED ORGANIZATIONS

Be Ready to Comply with California's Data Exchange Framework

Beginning Jan. 31, 2026, many physician organizations and medical groups across California will be expected to share data in alignment with the state's Data Exchange Framework (DxF). Partnering with a Qualified Health Information Organization (QHIO) is one of the most effective ways to meet DxF requirements and ensure secure, seamless data exchange – but choosing the right QHIO is essential.

Here's what you need to know:

- The deadline is set. Many organizations need to be able to exchange data by 2026 to comply with DxF.
- The options are not the same. Each QHIO has different strengths, data sources, and levels of support.
- The risks are real. A poor fit can leave you with incomplete or outdated data, failed integrations, unmet compliance requirements, and frustrated staff who spend more time trying to get patient information or not having complete information when trying to provide care.

We have been entrenched in QHIO selection

BluePath Health has spent time studying all of California's QHIOs, and collaborated with a number of them, giving us a clear view of their strengths, data sources, and support models. We not only understand the technical side of interoperability but also how data exchange affects funding streams, daily workflows, and patient care. No matter the size, organizations need a partner who can meet them where they are. That's what BluePath Health does: making the process manageable, practical, and aligned to your real-world needs.
